I was informed that you did the scoring in GA during this period, and the bigger sites like this received more attention than the scoring of sites like where I lived in Athens at the same time because there was not enough man power and budget funds to enforce the laws. Yes, I would like for Don and Carol to provide me with those scoring sheets so I can review them and provide comments.

Thanks.

Ms Jennings-McElheney,

This took place about 20 years ago and I would have to refresh my memory and do a little research.

All of that information should be available in the Region 4 Office. I recommend coordinating with Don Rigger and Carol Monell (both copied on this email) and if their team needs any help from me, I would be happy to assist. I do not want to create confusion by giving any incorrect information.

Ms. Jennings-McElheney,

I was never the lead or alternate EPA person responsible for the remedial or removal cleanup at the LCP Chemical Site in Brunswick, GA.

My only involvement was as part of the NPL Listing as a Site Assessment Manager.

As I mentioned in my previous email, there is certainly an EPA Region IV employee with more current information for the LCP Chemicals Site.

Thanks for sending the article.

Thank you for copying on Mr. Rigger and Mr. Barry. Here is a good press article from this month about the site:

Ms Jennings-McElheney,

I am in training this week and will not be available very much but would love to assist you.

What is the name of the NPL Site so I can determine if I ever worked on listing it or addressing the contaminants.

Also, as we discussed in previous emails, I no longer work in Region IV (Atlanta) and any Sites I have worked on as a Site Assessment Manager or Remedial Project Manager, have been assigned to different EPA personnel.

I have copied Mr. Don Rigger on this email and my Supervisor Mr. Michael Barry, for their situational awareness.

Dear Mr. McKeown:

I am writing again to inquire when a convenient time is for you to speak with me. It is very important, and has to do with a NPL site in GA listed 2 decades ago which is now being opened for public comment on remedial plans.

Please advise.

Thanks,

Jill

Can you please give me a convenient time to speak with you? I would like about 15 minutes of your time to get your opinion.
